School has started, and over 41,000 students have the tools they need thanks to our generous donors and volunteers!

Over 40,000 students with supplies and counting
While the 2019 Back-To-School Drive has unofficially ended, we're still distributing our remaining backpacks. We anticipate ending the season with over 41,000 backpacks delivered! Thank you so much to all the Drive Leaders, donors, volunteers, and other supporters who made this goal a reality!
Hair Dye and Coloring Supplies
FGT had quite a few Drive Leaders who went above and beyond in their contributions to 2019’s Back-to-School Drive. We’d like to give a special shout-out to Bishops Cuts / Color in San Jose. This salon offered discounted and free haircuts to clients who brought in backpacks and school supplies! You can find this special donor on Instagram @RamboTheRambunctiousPup
Creatively mobilizing your community is a great way to increase your drive's donations and spread awareness!

Help Us Make a Difference

As Poverty Levels Rise, How Do We Make Change?
Unfortunately, California has retained its ranking as the state with the highest functional poverty rate. The U.S. Census reported an average rate of 18.2% over three years which equates to approximately 7 million individuals. Living in the shadow of success are hundreds of thousands of families struggling to survive in an area where wealth is overwhelmingly abundant.

Along with higher poverty rates, come higher stress levels. Family Giving Tree can’t change the former, but we do address the latter for low-income families. By providing a wished-for gift, or a backpack filled with school supplies to a child we allow a family to focus on putting food on the table and keeping a roof over their heads. We help reduce unhealthy stress and send the message “you matter” at the same
Help us reach even more individuals who are caught in this unhealthy situation. Support us in Aetna’s Voice of Health Competition by voting today and every day. Share this message with your networks, friends, and family. We need your votes because Bay Area residents need your help.

Lead a Holiday Wish Drive

It’s time to sign up as a HWD 2019 Drive Leader! As part of our mission to be as green as possible, all materials to lead a drive will soon be available online. Gifts are due back Wednesday, December 11th. FGT will be hosting pick-ups all around the Bay Area, so don't worry about making it to San Jose for our warehouse drop off. Want to help, but don’t want to lead a drive?

Donate online, vote for us in the Voices of Health competition, follow us on social, and share our mission with your friends and family!
Company Volunteer Matching
You might’ve heard about employers matching your donated dollars. But did you know that many employers also match your volunteer hours? If you run a drive, volunteer at our warehouse, help out in our office or at events, check to see if your employer will donate according to the time you spent! Double, or even triple your impact by asking your company’s HR department if your contributions qualify.

Corporate Options
Want to involve your workplace in giving back? We have some fun, collaborative opportunities for you! Wrapping parties take place in the convenience of your own company, allowing employees to have the warehouse experience without the commute. FGT brings you the gifts to wrap, then uses them to stock the Holiday Wish Drive warehouse store. Shopping sprees are an exciting way to get your team moving and showing off their shopping skills. Employees take over a Target for a short period of time and try to buy as many gifts as possible within their budget! Contact amelia@fgt.org for more information on either of these team building volunteer options.

FGT Staff Spotlight

Amelia Johnson: Opera Singer, Martial Artist, and Fundraiser
Though she hasn't taken on learning circus arts (yet), Amelia Johnson is basically a professional juggler. Amidst working full time for FGT's development team, earning her MBA at Santa Clara University, and weekly training in Krav Maga and Salsa dancing, Amelia is busy--to put it lightly. She's used to the grind, however, having received her BA from San Jose State in Vocal Performance. You'll find voice majors in the studio warming up at 6:30 AM, in preparation for their first class at 7 AM, and with 11 classes per semester, the day doesn't slow down from there. Constantly memorizing music of different styles, stepping into different performative roles, and creatively collaborating with other musicians taught Amelia skills that she's taken with her into her graduate program and work at FGT. There's a level of self-awareness that comes from not only stepping into a new perspective as a performer, but from genuinely understanding a song and the performer's relation to that perspective. That awareness of context is key, according to Amelia. It's about clarity of message; both what one is saying/singing, and how it's being received. In development, just like on the stage, it's important to think critically about the needs and contexts of both agencies and donors, so that both can be met in symbiotic ways.

We're gearing up for an amazing 2019 Holiday Wish Drive. Your financial help to ensures that we're able to grow every year to help more and more Bay Area residents in need. Consider making a monthly donation.
